GLENGARRY KINGSLAND, 420 NEW NORTH RD. MANAGER: DANIELLE GREVERS

Our new store in Kingsland is now officially up and running. Ensclosed comfortably at 420 New North Rd, just through the New North Rd/Bond St lights, it is situated right next to local legend, the Atomic. We've been part of the area for a few years now, but had always dreamed of a slightly larger store, one where we could stretch out, do a little dance, get down tonight, that sort of thing. When the site beside the Atomic came up, we jumped.

We're ever on the hunt for an innovative perspective, thus the new improved Glengarry Kingsland has seen a few tweaks and modifications that takes it beyond our normal parameters: besides the usual extensive range of high-quality wines, we have a dedicated wine-tasting station featuring an exciting array of tipples; for the craft beer enthusiasts we've put in our biggest beer station yet, a serious construction where, along with some of New Zealand's finest craft breweries, the ubiquitous Stoke is poured into your waiting bottle. Chock-full of local and imported brews, the Kingsland beer fridge is spacious enough to hold its own craft convention. There is, too, a beautifully displayed collection of Riedel's superb glassware and a very fine selection of single malts.

All of this highly interesting stuff is in the capable hands of one of our best; Danielle Grevers has been a part of the family for many a year, initially dipping her toe in the pool of Glengarry retail back in 2007. Coming as she does with winemaking training under her belt and a surplus of other skills, we're extremely pleased to have her on board as the new manager at our latest store, a role she excels at. Wearing her charm and charisma on her sleeve and blessed with a natural talent for selling vino, Danielle helms the new-look Glengarry Kingsland with all the aplomb and enthusiasm of a seasoned professional. Already, she's encountering that many of you local Kingslanders have an abiding interest in the fascinating world of craft beer. That's great; so do we.

MARLBOROUGH Dry Riesling 2009 10749

WAS $19.99 $11.99 CASE OF 6 $11.49 A BOTTLE

While Kiwis continue to overlook their impressive Riesling wines, it does have a positive spin-off: it means we can secure great deals like this one, and the bottle of wine you end up with is worth far more than what you pay for it. This is all about citrus and honey wrapped around ripe fruit and lovely textures. My recommendation? Buy a case!

Working off the premise that great wine is first of all created in the vineyard, Farmers Market is a collective of some of our most highly-rated viticulturalists, working in close association with winemakers to produce smokin' expressions like this one. Peter Briant's Chardonnay vineyards are rightfully renowned, thus here we have warm, inviting tropical aromas introducing the rich, ripe fruit. Great mouthfeel, wondrous texture, with the good fruit acid balancing the lush fruit weight.

Long a popular fixture in Viennese wine bars, this Austrian variety is beginning to gain itself a firm following here as well. Food friendly and versatile, Grüner Veltliner can make a perfectly satisfactory, light quaffing white, but it is also capable of realising more complex expressions. And just to show they can, the Clairs have grabbed hold of the GV wheel and are proceeding to drive it with their typical flair and expertise, the elegant aromas of stonefruit and spring blossom riding atop a poised palate of subtle, spice-edged flavours and tongue-tingling textures.

VINTAGE Champagne

VINTAGE CHAMPAGNE

What's it all about?

A bit like the family car, albeit a very good one, a non-vintage champagne is constructed to represent its house on an everyday basis, blended from multiple vintages to create a reliably consistent expression that one can count on in any given year. Not released every year, vintage champagnes are, then, the Lamborghinis, one-offs forged with the x-factor that can only be found in the very best seasons. Unlike its non-vintage cousin, this style of champagne is all about celebrating diversity and capturing a moment in place and time. While non-vintage champagne is best purchased and enjoyed relatively promptly, the vintage expressions respond to time spent in the cellar, where hard edges are shaped and softened and the subtler nuances intensified. As someone once said, good things take time. We've gathered here some of the finer examples of the genre.

DRAPPIER CELLARS

Laurent-Perrier BRUT MILLÉSIMÉ VINTAGE 2002

WAS $144 NOW $99.99 46416

Fiercely selective when it comes to releasing their vintage expressions, the Laurents have only just made this available in New Zealand, and we've jumped at the chance to secure a small parcel. A 50/50 blend of Chardonnay and Pinot Noir off top grand cru and premier cru vineyards, it's a soaring testimonial to the undeniably brilliant 2002 vintage. Majestically exuberant, you could drink it right now and it would be absolutely delicious; however, it is still young enough to justify some serious cellar time; we'd recommend about eight years actually. Here's a thought: buy two, stash one.

DRAPPIER MILLÉSIME EXCEPTION BRUT 2005

WAS $90.00 NOW $69.99 43571

The Drappier wines are invariably superb value, and this is no exception. Weighty and creamy, yet elegant and poised. Vintage quality at an NV price.

MOËT & CHANDON GRAND VINTAGE BRUT 2004

WAS $135.00 NOW $92.99 47220

The House's 70th vintage was aged in the Moët & Chandon cellars for seven years and has matured into a wine of lively sophistication.

VEUVE CLICQUOT VINTAGE 2004

WAS $120.00 NOW $99.99 49815

Richly concentrated and powerful, walking the delicate path between the fresh, edgy citrus notes and the rich sonic boom of the bready bass drum.

POL ROGER BRUT ROSÉ VINTAGE 2004

WAS $130.00 NOW $99.99 48231

Delicately aromatic yet rich and weighty; the folk at Pol know about rosé, their masterful expression exquisitely textured and perfectly proportioned.

POL ROGER BLANC DE BLANCS VINTAGE 2000

WAS $140.00 NOW $99.99 48242

Lushly rounded and tautly textured. With 12 years on the clock, it is drinking beautifully right now, but will reward those who pop it into the cellar.

MOËT & CHANDON DOM PÉRIGNON VINTAGE 2003

WAS $326.00 NOW $199.99 47259

Astonishing floral, mineral-tinged aromas and a silky-soft mouthfeel encase the textural, toasty, superbly balanced characters. Iconic.

PIPER-HEIDSIECK RARE VINTAGE 2002

WAS $399.00 NOW $299.99 48100

Fine Champagne Magazine placed this at the top of its 100 best champagnes for 2011. Rich and complex, long and intense. Extraordinary bottle.

TAITTINGER

SPARKLING

TAITTINGER

Back in French hands

One of Champagne's most celebrated grande marques, Taittinger began life as Champagne Fourneaux in 1734. The Fourneaux family were themselves no slouches, acting for a time as advisors to Veuve Clicquot. During The First World War, cavalry officer Pierre Taittinger spent time near Epernay. He subsequently returned to the region in 1932 to buy the Fourneaux holdings and found the House of Taittinger, in the process cannily buying up large swathes of valuable vineyard at a time when Depression-ravaged land prices were at rock-bottom.

Relinquishing control to international corporate interests in the mid-2000s, the family have subsequently managed to claw their way back into contention. Today, again in French hands and headed up by Pierre-Emmanuel Taittinger, the business is quartered in Reims, where they reside above their labyrinthine 4th-century Roman cellars and remain one of the largest vineyard owners in the region.

AKARUA

Akarua

CENTRAL OTAGO Pinot Gris 2011

was $26.90 now $21.99 10202

CASE OF 12 $21.49 A BOTTLE

This pale beauty floats its seamless scents of pear and lychee across the nose with an added touch of orange blossom thrown in for good measure. The slightly off-dry palate extends a hand of bright stonefruit flavours in greeting, while a tingling hint of ginger and swirl of citrus wait at the edges to introduce themselves.

Akarua is the largest family-owned estate in Central Otago, with 50 hectares of vineyard in Bannockburn. Established in 1996 by early Central Otago adopter Sir Clifford Skeggs, control of the business has now shifted to son David, with the award-winning winemaker and self-acknowledged perfectionist Matt Connell heading up the team.

Matt arrived in Central wearing his snugly-fitting obsession with Pinot Noir and an unabating desire to get his hands on the stunning fruit produced by the Akarua terroir. This fortuitous association has culminated in a glittering collection of awards, including the trophy for Champion Pinot Noir at the 2011 Royal Easter Show Wine Awards and a gold for the Rua at the 2011 Decanter World Wine Awards.

Not content to rest on their laurels, Akarua's latest venture has been the release of two méthodes, an exciting prospect for Matt given the vineyard's fine Pinot Noir and Chardonnay fruit and the existing stocks of reserve wines now available to work with.

One of Akarua's trump cards is its impressive consistency, and under Matt Connell's astute watch, the company continues its upward trajectory as a leading producer of top-tier New Zealand wines.

Akarua

CENTRAL OTAGO Brut NV

was $33.90 now $29.99 10118

CASE OF 6 $29.49 A BOTTLE

Central Otago's cool night temperatures are perfectly suited to the production of méthode traditionnelle wines, and it's not hard to see what Matt Connell is getting all excited about. Using Akarua's pristine Pinot and Chardonnay fruit, he has fashioned an aperitif-style méthode with complex characters and biscuity nuances. Creamy, textural, beautifully fresh, it sits very comfortably alongside the rest of Akarua's sublime collection.

Akarua RUA

CENTRAL OTAGO Pinot Noir 2011

was $24.90 now $19.99 10208

CASE OF 12 $19.49 A BOTTLE

Currently flying out the door, this great Pinot Noir, Akarua's drink-it-now model, has the stuffing to back up the styling. The core of ripe, juicy berry and cherry fruit is neatly integrated into a solid but sensitive oak structure and augmented with a singing savoury note. When you're looking for a good quality but price-friendly Pinot to quaff on the deck with your buddies, this is it. Silk. Spice. Good to go.

At Craggy Range they have a most singular view: only the best will do. That philosophy flows relentlessly through every aspect of their range, this being no exception. 12112 CLOUDY BAY
MARLBOROUGH SAUVIGNON BLANC 2012
WAS $37.00 NOW $29.99 CASE OF 6 $29.49 A BOTTLE

How many NZ wines can call themselves an international benchmark? This one can; it redrew the global Sauvignon Blanc map and rearranged a few boundaries in the world wine atlas. Intense, vibrant, fragrant, citric-lined yet herbaceously plump, it is superbly varietal. Fully deserves its pedigree status.

12592 DUSKY SOUNDS GOLD MEDAL
WAIPARA RIESLING 2008
WAS $19.90 NOW $7.99 CASE OF 12 $7.49 A BOTTLE

The hidden gem that is Riesling is not, it seems, our go-to wine. This will show you why it should be: five years on, it has developed a honeyed richness to go with the florals and citrus, and a delightful weight and balance. Of course, that flight under the radar is good news for all you punters; look at the price.

11381 BROOKFIELDS BERGMAN
HAWKES BAY CHARDONNAY 2011
WAS $19.90 NOW $16.99 CASE OF 12 $16.49 A BOTTLE

Rich, elegant, creamy and versatile, it works brilliantly with a host of foods. Held in high esteem by many of our regulars.

10775 MATAWHERO
GISBORNE CHARDONNAY 2011

Aiming to champion Gisborne as a serious winemaking region, the dynamic duo behind this historic label have a clear direction for Matawhero that sets them confidently on their own road. The legendary Tietjen vineyard provides the outstanding fruit, the Searles do the rest. Rich, ripe, ready.

13628 LAKE CHALICE GOLD MEDAL
MARLBOROUGH PINOT GRIS 2012
WAS $19.90 NOW $16.99 CASE OF 12 $16.49 A BOTTLE

11384 BROOKFIELDS ROBERTSON
HAWKES BAY PINOT GRIS 2012
WAS $19.90 NOW $16.99 CASE OF 12 $16.49 A BOTTLE

Having for many years admired Alsatian Pinot Gris (both at a distance and from behind the rim of his glass), Peter Robertson was making his own model well before it became a trend in these parts. With its vivacious, dry, aromatic palate and lively acidity, this is lighter and more floral than the Gisselbrecht.

47015 GISSELBRECHT TRADITION
ALSACE PINOT GRIS 2011
WAS $28.00 NOW $21.99 CASE OF 12 $21.49 A BOTTLE

A lush, wonderfully aromatic Pinot Gris as only the Alsations can do it, with spicy, richly-textured pear and stonefruit characters nuanced with mineral. An initial hint of sweetness is followed by a delightful acid hit that leaves you lingering over the dry finish. Like a top hotel, this has everything you need.

One of New Zealand's finest sparkling wines, consistently so for two decades, give or take. Glittering gold in the glass, it's dazzlingly clear and bright with a fine, effusive bead. 13631 LAKE CHALICE SOUTHERN VALLEYS
PINOT NOIR 2011

The quality of the Chalice Pinot is on a distinctly upward trajectory. Sub-$20 Pinot would've been a dubious proposition 15 to 20 years ago, but assiduous and fiercely stubborn vineyard teams like this one have done their homework, ensuring the delivery of an excellent and flavoursome expression.

15954 DEVIL'S STAIRCASE
CENTRAL OTAGO PINOT NOIR 2011

MARTINBOROUGH PINOT NOIR 2010
WAS $25.90 NOW $19.99 CASE OF 12 $19.49 A BOTTLE

Arguably the birthplace of our Pinot revolution, Martinborough possesses an X-factor seemingly not available elsewhere, the Pinots differing from their southern counterparts via a savoury/earthy/textural element reminiscent of Burgundy. Nga Waka's early-drinking label delivers top quality year after year.

11167 RABBIT RANCH
CENTRAL OTAGO PINOT NOIR 2011
WAS $29.90 NOW $23.99 CASE OF 12 $23.49 A BOTTLE

Fashioned by the team at Chard Farm, Rabbit Ranch is deliberately made in a light and easy, approachable style; not one for the cellar, it is nonetheless surprisingly complex. A seductive fruity character evolves through the mid-palate, gently swathed in strawberry/raspberry aromas and soft tannins.

15951 ROCKBURN GOLD MEDAL
CENTRAL OTAGO PINOT NOIR 2010
WAS $45.00 NOW $34.99 CASE OF 12 $34.49 A BOTTLE

A multi-awarded high achiever, where deep, rich rivers of cherries and plums sinew their way to a sea of earthy, savoury, controlled seduction. Weighty yet refined, fleshy and opulent, nothing is out of place. With a couple of years in the bottle under its belt, it's drinking beautifully, but cellaring is a good option.

CRAFT Beers

WE POP THE TOP ON NEW ZEALAND'S RAPIDLY FLOURISHING CRAFT BEER INDUSTRY AS EACH MONTH WE EXPLORE THE ARTISTS OF THE BEER WORLD

Hallertau

To establish the tone of these crafty aficionados you need go no further than their labels. Stephen and Hayley Plowman have named their brand in tribute to the Bavarian Hallertau region famed for its hops, but at that point, proudly bearing their Riverhead roots and an obviously well-honed sense of humour, they veer off into exuberant Westie mode via their fearlessly unique yet smartly-executed visuals.

Staunch believers in purity of expression, the beer styles are about generous aromas, vibrant flavours and enriching characters, meticulously hand-brewed from the purest natural ingredients, with all Hallertau models lovingly championed regardless of their commercial viability. That's dedication.

Initially the beers were available only from the Plowmans' groundbreaking Brewbar and Restaurant, but increasingly vociferous demand has led to a more serious bottling of the staple range. These babies are best enjoyed well chilled rather than icy-cold, so as to fully appreciate the depth of their flavours.

TUATARA'S CARL VASTA

Tuatara

As with all good beer stories, this one started as a backyard operation, with engineer Carl Vasta positioning himself at the vanguard of the craft beer revolution before graduating to the current general acclaim. The din of approval for Carl's efforts has risen on an exponential curve similar to the upward trajectory of a space shuttle.

In recognition of such unbridled success, the Tuataras are now comfortably ensconced in a brand-new, custom-built brewery to accommodate the rapidly expanding production and the required conditioning capacity. If you are a lover of great classic beer styles, this is for you. 'I'm trying to make the classic European styles as close to their traditional definition as possible,' says Vasta. A lot of people seem in agreement that he is succeeding.

TASTY TIP

LIZ WHEADON

With the advent of summer salad weather, it's time to throw in a couple of my favourite combinations.

- 1) Salmon and Horseradish: take a mix of lettuce, lightly cook some green beans and cool, then add some smoked salmon and top with horseradish mixed with plain yoghurt.
- 2) Lamb and Dates: create a mix of lettuce, fresh dates (stones out) and small tomatoes. Cook a fillet of spring lamb and rest, then slice it over the top and dress with a mix of honey and white vinegar.
