Our Antipodean cousins now have some serious time under their belts when it comes to winemaking. At least in New World terms. This equates to unparalleled vine age (having avoided the phylloxera aphid that destroyed vines elsewhere) and a generational continuity that is worthy of acknowledgement. The nice thing is that the respective vinous strengths of our two countries tend to lie in differing arenas. One could even opine that the dual outputs complement – as opposed to compete with – each other. What are we saying? That it's okay to dismount from our high horses and enjoy the undeniable flair that is to be found within a good Australian red. Or a white, for that matter – where our paths do converge is in the places where Australia can lay claim to cool climate conditions. There are some very clever and accomplished wine-makers currently plying their art across the ditch. They are more than worthy of your attention, so hop on the bus as we go in search of the Wine Wizards of Oz.

POL ROGER BRUT RÉSERVE NV

CHAMPAGNE $69.99 48210

Few champagne houses remain in family hands. The impressively-pedigreed Pol Roger is one of them. Residing in the heart of Epernay with cellars running below the Avenue de Champagne for over seven kilometres, they are highly-skilled vinous alchemists in possession of an exquisite collection of wines. The English obviously love them, with Pol Roger one of only eight houses to bear the English Royal Seal, and the late Winston Churchill clutching Pol to his steely heart as a personal favourite. Their Brut Réserve NV displays layer upon layer of exquisitely balanced flavour and texture, the richly lush fruit and toast defined by precise, refreshing citrus and acid. Aristocratic.

PEGASUS BAY

The globally-lauded Pegasus Bay was established by Ivan and Christine Donaldson in 1986 with the planting of the first vines in the Waipara Valley. It is very much a family business, with the four Donaldson sons and their spouses involved in every aspect of the operation.

The Donaldsons support natural methods of cultivation, the home vineyard sustainably managed on a low-cropping regime to deliver the best possible fruit to the winemaking team, which is led by eldest son, Matthew. Minimal interventionists, they utilize a combination of traditional and modern winemaking techniques, allowing the wines to undergo natural malolactic fermentation and clarification by settling, with the resulting expressions vividly evoking the unique characteristics of the local Waipara terroir.

The Pegasus Bay range is produced exclusively from estate-grown fruit, while the second-tier Main Divide wines are made from a combination of their own fruit and that of other growers. Pegasus Bay also produce a range of super-premium reserve wines, made in small quantities and only in the best years.

PETER LEHMANN

One of the Barossa's star wineries, Peter Lehmann was launched in 1982. They have their own vineyards, but are supplied as well by around 185 independent growers. Lehmann himself, who passed away in 2013, was affectionately known as the Baron of the Barossa, and was incredibly loyal to his growers through good times and bad.

23103 PETER LEHMANN BAROSSA FUTURES SHIRAZ 2014

$27.99

An approachable and supple wine sourced from low-yielding vines and matured in French oak to integrate the muscular fruit flavours. A bouquet of spicy plum and chocolate, the palate firm and opulent with a lingering finish. Can be consumed now, but will benefit from a few years of cellaring.

KAESLER

First established in 1893 by the Kaesler family, ancient Shiraz, Grenache and Mourvèdre vines provide the backbone, power and intensity for which the Kaesler wines are renowned. Kaesler own substantial holdings in the Barossa, all meticulously managed, with the vines hand-pruned, yields kept low and the grapes hand-harvested. High quality wines imbued with vision and finesse.

NOTE: ALL THE RIESLINGS ARE MADE FROM ORGANICALLY FARMED GRAPES, BUT THE WINERY IS NOT CERTIFIED

Yep, the people below are winemakers. And no, they're not your normal garden variety. Winemaker Dr Andrew Hedley is a man with a Riesling obsession, one globally recognised for its skyscraping standards. Could there be a fussier, more determined winemaker in these parts? Probably not.

He is acknowledged as one of the most skilled makers of Riesling in the world. But here's the intriguing thing: thanks to a bout with throat cancer the doctor has no larynx. Which means that his lungs and oesophagus are now disconnected and there's no air flow into his nostrils; a new way to get aroma into his nose (essentially to smell) needed to be found. Thankfully his radiation therapists also knew what he did for a living, and were able to preserve most of the salivary glands and so on, so the ability to taste largely remained.

Framingham aren't just Riesling obsessives, they're music obsessives too. And we like that; it's called living life to the full. We don't quite know how The Doctor pulls all this off. A triumph of endeavour over adversity.

CÔTES DU RHÔNE

2015 IS EXCEPTIONAL

The great swathes of vineyards that nestle in the hills, valleys and plains of the southern Rhône have been churning out the vino since pre-Roman times and are the source of the Côtes du Rhône wines. The appellation produces a variety of styles, but the bulk of production is red. Dominated by Grenache and augmented with varieties such as Syrah and Mourvèdre, these sublimely fruity, spice-edged wines constitute some of France's best-value drinking. Versatile with a wide range of foods, they are made for immediate drinking but possess the depth for some short-term cellaring. What's more, we're letting you in on a secret: the 2015 vintage is exceptional! You'd be mad not to.

EN PRIMEUR

Ever wanted to buy Bordeaux, but not sure where to start? The 2017 Bordeaux vintage is about to be sold En Primeur, a term that refers to the process of buying the wines before they are bottled and released onto the market; the wine is normally delivered two years later. When purchasing En Primeur, you are buying the wine at the initial release price, direct from Bordeaux. For many châteaux, this is usually the lowest you'll ever get, and significantly lower than the future retail prices. Glengarry have sold fine wines via the En Primeur system since 1983, so we know our stuff. We have longstanding relationships with the best négociants in France, relationships that guarantee us the offer and supply of wine that is simply not made available to other merchants.

SAINT CLAIR

ORIGIN 2017

The success of the Saint Clair wines is attributable to the Ibbotson Family, who planted their first vines in 1978 and have a deep understanding of the regional differences that exist within Marlborough. The Origin wines are blended from the family's own vineyards and evoke the distinctive nuances of their terroir.
